

Daniel Boone

<http://gardenofpraise.com/ibdboone.htm>

Daniel's family belonged to	through the Cumberland Gap.
The Boone children once deliberately	exposed themselves to smallpox.
Daniel's mother	using Conestoga wagons.
When they grew up, the Boone children	the name Shel-Tow-Y or "The Big Turtle".
The family traveled by	married outside the Quaker faith.
During the French and Indian War	Boone drove an army supply wagon.
They crossed the Appalachian Mountains	taught him to read, spell, and write.
Boone and twenty-eight men made	a religious group called the Quakers.
While Daniel searched for new hunting grounds	crossed the Appalachian Mountains.
In 1767 Daniel and his oldest son	Rebecca cared for the large family.
The Indians didn't want the settlers	a road from Virginia to Kentucky.
Black Fish gave Daniel Boone	to intrude on their hunting grounds.